Event Report

The Association of Food Technologists, Department of Food Technology, HBTU Kanpur, successfully organized an Expert Lecture under the Comprehensive Brain Crafting Hundred Lecture Series for Food Technologists on 29 January 2022 at 11:00 AM, as part of the University's 100+ years centenary celebrations (1921–2021). The program was conducted with the objective of strengthening students' understanding of quality concepts and practices essential to the food industry.

The session was delivered by Mr. Nitin Sonker, Senior Manager, Perfetti Van Melle, Gurugram, India, who served as the keynote speaker. In his lecture on “What is Quality in Food Industry?” he explained the practical meaning of quality from an industrial perspective, covering aspects such as quality assurance, quality control, process consistency, consumer expectations, and compliance with food safety standards. He emphasized how quality is an outcome of well-defined systems, trained manpower, and a strong food safety culture across the organization.

The program was organized under the patronage of Prof. Shamsheer, Hon'ble Vice Chancellor, HBTU Kanpur. Prof. Alak Kumar Singh, Head, Department of Food Technology, served as Chairman, while Dr. Vivek Kumar, Assistant Professor, Department of Food Technology, acted as Convenor. Their guidance and coordination ensured the smooth conduct of the event.

More than 40 Students and faculty members actively participated in the lecture and interaction session, gaining valuable industry-oriented insights into quality management systems and professional expectations in the food sector. The event concluded on an informative and motivating note, reinforcing the importance of quality-driven thinking and continuous improvement for aspiring food technologists.
